"I'm not gay or anything - I live with my boyfriend, Jake -but I'd always fantasised about what it would be like to have sex with another woman. Just thinking about kissing her mouth, stroking her breasts and sucking her nipples, used to get me incredibly horny. And the thought of putting my tongue into her wet pussy, sucking her erect clit into my mouth and making her come, nearly drove me crazy. When I finally admitted all this to Jake I thought he'd be angry with me, maybe think I needed to find a girl because he couldn't satisfy me. But he was great. He said it would be fine by him if I found a girlfriend, and in fact he even put the contact ad in for me. That's how I met Lisa. She's married, and she was as inexperienced as me. But it didn't matter. The sex was fantastic, right from the start. And its done wonders for my relationship with Jake. He gets unbelievably rampant when I get home after a session with Lisa and tell him all about what I've been up to. Maybe we'll let him join us one day!"

Naughty-but-nice girls are the kind we love best, and they don't come much naughtier than Jessica. "Oh yes, I'm bad," she growls, stalking the photographer round the room. "I drink, I smoke, I flash my panties at strange men and I like to fuck in pub car parks. In fact, I like to fuck just about anywhere, especially with more than one man at a time. Now, do you think you could handle a bad girl like me?" We'd certainly love to give it a try, Jessica!
